

SKY-HIGH: An artist's impression of the development on the corner of Franklin and Morphett streets.

Homes reach new altitude

A $70 MILLION, 18-storey contemporary apartment complex will be built in the next stage of the old Balfours site redevelopment.

The announcement of the second release comes as the developers report more than 80 per cent of the first stage, The Gallery, have been sold.

Homes in the towering precinct, to be known as Altitude, will go on sale early next month. The building is part of the $600 million Precinct redevelopment, on the corner of Franklin and Morphett streets – a joint venture between Urban Construct and Multiplex.

It will comprise 138 apartments and will be constructed in a “pin-wheel” design to maximise apartment views across the Adelaide city, hills and coast.